Addendum to the 2nd circular announcing the ISSI workshop on 'Probing the Deep Earth Interior by using in synergy observations of the Earth's gravity and magnetic fields, and of the Earth's rotation', 1-4 September 2020

Dear Participants to the Workshop,

You recently received from Lorena Moreira (ISSI) the 2nd circular with some practical information regarding the workshop.

Considering the current Covid-19 pandemic situation, the workshop conveners and the ISSI Executive Director discussed a number of options about the organization of this event (face-to-face, partly virtual, fully virtual, postponed and rescheduled later this fall or early 2021).

We came up to the decision to maintain the face-to-face meeting as initially scheduled (on site meeting is indeed the strength of ISSI series of workshops), but with the possibility for the participants to remotely join the workshop. This option is suggested for those anticipating difficulties to travel to Bern early September.

In order to optimize the remote participation option, we would appreciate you register to this workshop as previously indicated in the 2nd circular (by 15 May 2020), indicating that your participation is foreseen, at time being, either remotely or on site. This obviously may change in the near future depending on the pandemic evolution.

We thank you in advance

Best wishes

The workshop conveners: Anny Cazenave, Mioara Manda, Veronique Dehant, Lorena Moreira
