

Important Note on Images: Make sure you have copyright permission for images you use on your team website!

Many images from NASA, ESA and ESO may be used without obtaining a permission, but please check. (Note though that images from NASA's "Astronomy Picture of the Day" may be copyright protected as these often are from sources other than NASA.) Images from other websites including space library images or science library images usually are copyright protected!

Image credit must be given for those that are not copyright protected (e.g., image credit: Nasa). Copyright information has to be given for those that are protected. The same principles apply to presentations with images that are uploaded to the public section of your website.

If you are in doubt or need help with images, feel free to contact andrea.fischer {{at}} issibern .ch

A guideline of what should be included in a team's website

- ❖ Title and abstract of the team proposal
- ❖ Actual proposal submitted to ISSI (optional)
- ❖ List of team members & their affiliation
- ❖ Schedule of the project
- ❖ Agenda of the meetings (e.g. dates, speakers), can be added once you have created one
- ❖ Picture of the team (optional, you can always add a picture of the team after the first meeting) or any other science related images concerning the team's topic.
- ❖ Logo of ISSI

- ❖ List of publications resulting from the activities of the team with acknowledgement to ISSI
- ❖ Other publications or references (optional)
- ❖ Password protected area (optional)
- ❖ A final report should be sent to ISSI and added to the team's website soon after the meeting of the Team. This will in particular identify in which way ISSI contributed to the successful completion of the work. Your report should also indicate weaknesses and where things could be modified or improved.
- ❖ Anything else you like to add
- ❖ Once you have planned / finished creating your website, please contact me (see below) to learn about the process of how to connect to ISSI's server
- ❖ For further questions, help, comments, etc, please contact Saliba F. Saliba email: saliba {{at}} issibern .ch
